STOCK MARKET IRREGULAR; CLOSE GENERALLY LOWER.

TRANSACTIONS OF THE DAY ARE NARROW.

Acute Weakness in Erie Has Unsettling Effect-Other Issues Decline in Sympathy.

New York, May 14.-Prices of stocks receded for a time to-day and then recovered partly, closing irregular and generally lower than last night. Acute weakness in the Erie shares had an unsettling effect and seemed to be based on the mater'al decline in earnings compared with last year. Amalgamated reacted from yesterday's advance. The Wabash stocks were weak on the movement by dissatis-fied holders of Wabash debenture B bonds to enforce an accounting.

The general movement was narrow. The evidence of support for United States Steel, preferred had a somewhat reassuring effect upon sentiment. The bank statement also failed to show as large an impairment of the surplus as was feared by reason of the unexpectedly moderate loan expansion. However, the very large transactions of the week, reckoned by the system of daily averages, by which the bank statement is computed, confuse the showing so much that the publication be-gets hesitation rather than assurance.

GOLD SHIPMENTS. GOLD SHIPMENTS.

To-day's shipments of $5,000,000 gold do not figure in the statement at all, nor does the payment this morning of $2,191,000 by the Subtreasury on account of the Japanese gold which arrived at San Francisco yesterday. Also, arrangements already made point to the shipment on Tuesday of $30,500,000 of gold, and the limits of the gold movement do not seem to be yet. In sight.

Until Paris relaxes its demand for gold the movement does not seem likely to be checked. The allotment of the Russian loan in Paris may release funds on a large scale. A possible contingency is a resulting redundancy of supplies in Paris, which may divert the tide from that point.

REVIEW OF THE WEEK.

The total sales of bonds to-day, par value, were $66,000. A growing inclination value, were $66,000. A growing inclination to sell stock has been reflected in the week's declining prices. A feeling of doubt and distrust over the general situation and outlook of business seems to have been responsible for the pressure, rather than any special developments.

The unpreconsented volume of the gold-export movement, however, has proved rather formidable to the feeling of tranquil assurance with which this influence has been regarded hitherto. Former records for a single shipment and for a week's total have gone by the board as a result of the $0.00,500 shipment on Thursday and the $14,000,000 total for the week, and the former record for a full month's shipments is already approximated for May, with the certain prospect of further large shipments during the remainder of the month.

Meantime the placing of $25,000,000 of the new Japanese loan, of $4,000,000 of the new Hussian loan and the issue of $50,000,000 of New York Central debenture bonds, with notice of a refunding measure by the St. Louis and San Francisco and a stock issue by a subsidiary company of the Pennsylvania, mark the unabated demands of corporations and public loans upon the money market.

The doubt over the ultimate effect upon the money market is enhanced by the fact that the plethoric supply of money largely artificial, and is not working out according to calculations. The accumulation of $D per cent of Government deposits with blanks in New York for the Panama payment was recognized as a temporary measure, but was prolonged beyond expectation by the delays in the Panama Canal transfer.

Furthermore, it was believed that the transfer of funds for the payment would be effected in New York to depositories for the French company, with the prospect that the deposits might remain in New York for a time for loaning purposes. The payment of a large part of the purchase price out of free funds in the Treasury was also counted upon, promising addition by so much to the open-market supply of money out of the file surplus in the Treasury. The declaion to make the canal payment in Paris involved the prompt withdrawal of funds from New York for transfer to Paris, and the gold exports for this purpose are rapidly depicting the New York reserves.

In addition, the decline in the Government revenues has transformed the current surplus into a deficit for the fiscal year. It was therefore deemed inexpedient to draw down the Treasury's cash balance, and the call for $D$ per cent additional of Government deposits with the barks has followed, bringing the total re-tional of Government deposits with the barks has followed, bringing the total re-duction of Government deposits with the banks to $50,000,000.

JAPANESE LOAN.

here establishes a fund for that Govern-ment to draw upon, and it is believed, will ment to draw upon, and it is believed, will stop the shipments of Japanese gold to San Prancisco, and may even involve some additional gold shipments from New York on Japanese account.

Also, part of this week's outgo of gold was against New York subscriptions to the Russian loan. The course of our export trade since the Pansma payment first became a problem, has diminished the supply of commercial exchange by reason of the heavy shrinkage in grain and cotton exports and has thrown upon the market additional requirements for exchange which are calling for large gold shipments aside from the Panama payment. This combination of circumstances has resulted in such an afflux of gold from New York as was never before equaled and some serious calculations are now being made as to how much further the movement is to go.

It is pointed out, on the other hand, that as to how much further the movement is to go.

It is pointed out, on the other hand, that the volume of gold in the country is larger than ever before and has been materially added to by the movement from Japan, while the decline of this and industrial activity is sending heavy accumulations into banks' reserves.

It is believed that any appreciable advance in the interest rate would check the outgo of gold. But it seems apparent, also, that many holders of stocks have been induced to keep their holdings by reason of the extreme ease of money and the fear that a rise in the money market would prompt the throwing over of such holdings has been the motive for some speculative pressure upon the market, and has given added effect to the reactionary factors in the general outlook.

yesterday's local market. There was some encouragement for the bulls in the early news. For the first time in several days cables came higher. This caused early covering by shorts, who thought it best to cover over Sunday. Statistical reports based on forecasts of the figures to be posted Monday were generally bullish. It was predicted that the world's shipments for the week would show a decrease of about 2,600,000 bu, as compared with the previous week. Australian shipments for the week were comparatively small. Weather conditions were favorable, but there was some fear of more rain and the movement to market was not very brisk. After the initial advance there was considerable liquidation by profit-takers. Toward the end of the session scalping caused a rather uncertain market, but in the last hour there was another rally and futures closed at a slight advance. There was a fairly good cas-

There was a further important decrease in cash holdings following the heavy loss in the previous week, as the result of the exports of gold to Europe during the week. Loans were increased $2,883,600, parity because of corporation borrowing and of operations incident to the negotiation of the New Tork City bonds in the previous week; the Japanese loan last week probably contributed indirectly to the increase in this item.
